The unique and enduringly popular 'weekend' formula allows eager beginners to build skills gradually and produce an attractive, frameable painting in a weekend. Materials and basic technique sections are designed to provide a fast grounding in the skills required for painting watercolour landscapes. Budding artists can then tackle nine short landscape-painting courses: each starts with practise exercises to be completed on Saturday ready to complete the full painting on Sunday. Clear instruction accompanies step-by-step photographs throughout, and technical information is given in handy special feature boxes.
